Mashington Post 12 Janking

Approved For Release 2000/08/03: CIA-RDP96-00789R000500070001-9
Bonn Links 2 Firms
To Unauthorized
Exports to Libya

W. Germany Sets New Control Measures

By Robert J. McCartney Washington Post Foreign Service

BONN, Jan. 11—The West German government today acknowledged for the first time that investigators have uncovered "indications" that two West German firms may have made unauthorized exports to Libya.

The statement appeared to represent a reversal by the Bonn government, which had insisted for more than a week that it had seen no indications or evidence to support U.S. administration allegations that five West German companies helped Libya build a chemical weapons factory.

Customs investigators and other export-monitoring authorities have obtained information indicating that two of the five companies implicated by Washington may have been involved with a Belgian transport company in making unauthorized exports to Libya, a government spokesman said.

Yesterday the government announced a major package of control measures for new arms shipments abroad that commentators here said was a clear admission that the Bonn government had been lax in enforcing its own ban on military exports to regions of tension.

[In Washington, a State Department spokesman "warmly welcomed" Bonn's move, adding that the administration would have to study the new restrictions careful-

The two West German companies implicated are IBI Engineering of Frankfurt, which has been linked to an Iraqi businessman identified as Ihsan Barbouti, and Imhausen-Chemie GmbH of Lahr, said the Bonn government spokesman in a telephone interview tonight. The Belgian firm is Cross Link of Antwerp, the spokesman added.

Imhausen previously has denied that it delivered chemical arms equipment to Libya, while IBI Engineering has not publicly responded to the allegations. Cross Link refused comment when contacted today, Reuter news agency reported.

reported.
West German officials said that customs investigators a week ago confiscated 12 containers of documents belonging to IBI Engineering as part of an inquiry into the U.S. allegations. West German and Belgian authorities were cooperating in the inquiry, the Bonn officials said.

It was too early to say whether investigators have obtained "evidence" of illegal exports to Libya, the government spokesman said tonight.

Earlier in the day, Reuters quoted Bonn government sources as saying that West German authorities had evidence that West German firms helped Libya build what the United States says is a chemical weapons plant.

"We are in possession of evidence which shows that the American allegations are not groundless," Reuters quoted a source as saying. "Imhausen will not be able to extricate itself from the matter now," the agency quoted a government source as saying.

But the government spokesman said that the sources quoted by Reuter went "too far," because "we have no formal report with evidence from the responsible authorities."

Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government reacted with a mixture of deep embarrassment and irritation, after U.S. officials leaked the name of the Imhausen firm to U.S. media late last month. U.S. officials maintain that Imhausen, a chemicals and pharmaceuticals company belonging to a group with 350 employees, cient grounds to open a state prose-ecutor's investigation.

See BONN, A32, Col. 4

The announcement today of 13st week's customs raid on IBI Enganeering contradicted statements by Bonn officials last week that all inquiries were stalled because of 13st of sufficient data from Washington. last week in saying strongly the evidence was lacking to back up the Americans' claims. Asked whether Bonn now had such evidence, the official said, "I will not rule it outs because I always was afraid that if would be like that." One official indicated today the the government was too hasty earle. business has been suspended for several months, were located after investigators received an anony moust in Bonn officials add. The documents of the firm, whose business has been suspended mous tip, Bonn officials added, played a central role in design and

BONN, From A29

construction of the plant at Rabta,

IBI. The executive, Josef Sartorius, said Barbouti visited his firm in dows to Rabta as part of a deal with 1987 to discuss the deal.

Frankfurt, a customs spokesman said. A Zurich office of IBI also has Barbouti owns IBI Engineering of been implicated by Washington as having worked in the Libyan project.

A spokesmen for the government an inquiry by its Customs Criminal Institute of IBI Engineering and and the Finance Ministry said that Imhausen has not yet found suffi-

Imhausen, through subsidiaries, had been responsible for most of

The and The an Rabta plant. ZDF said its reporters saw letters and receipts that aptechnical interior equipment for the pear to be proof" of Imhausen's

The network said it interviewed a West German businessman who stated that he had shipped 200 win-

The weekly magazine Stern, in a Libya, the U.S. officials said.

report released today ahead of publication, named six West German firms, plus one in East Germany and another in Austria, which it said had worked with Libya. ZDF said a total of 30 companies from West Germany, East Germany, Denmark Libya with "everything that was ry." The ZDF television network said Stern said it had obtained evidence showing Imhausen provided needed to build a chemicals factoand other countries were involved.

Approved For Release 2000/08/08: CIA-RDP96-00789R000500070001-9

Plant

By Robert J. McCartney Washington Post Foreign Service

ported today that a West German chemicals company manager has in Libya and was to produce highly man weekly magazine Stern resubsidiary of a state-controlled company sold blueprints for a factory knowing that it was to be based BONN, Jan. 24—The West Gertold criminal investigators that toxic substances.

The United States has charged companies helped Libya build a poison gas fac-German that West

Imhausen-Chemie of Lahr, a company identi-Stern said the witness was ö fied by the U.S. administration as sign and construction of the plant at having played a central role in de-Rabta, Libya. The company has denied the allegations.

The magazine said the Imhausen witness has "completely opened up" with investigators.

ployee has made statements as a ports to Libya. Voegele declined to comment on the substance of the spokesman for the prosecutor, confirmed by telephone that an Imhausen emwitness to authorities investigating Imhausen on suspicion of illegal exwitness' testimony and would not the Imhausen employee, who was not named by Stern Hubertus Voegele, identify

Stern said the witness told investigators that Salzgitter Industriebant GmbH, or SIG, a subsidiary of a state-controlled steel group, some blueprints for the Rabta facility the Imhausen. In talks between executives BSIG and Imhausen, "it was an open secret that the ominous Pharme 150 [plant] was in Libya and not Reng Kong" as SIG has said, Steres said. Pharma 150 reportedly is the Imhausen.

name both of a pharmaceutical plant being built in Hong Kong ark of the controversial portion of the Rabta industrial complex.

"It was also clear to the SIG experts, according to the Imhauses, witness, that this was not a small."

pharmaceuticals factory, but a large chemical plant for the production slighty toxic substances," Stern said SIG said today that its employed "have at no time worked for the preject in Rabta.... Salzgitter Inductriebau was always told that Hong Kong was the site of the plant. In hausen still maintains this today."

Washingon Po-117 Jan 89
Approved For Release 2000/08/08: CIA-RDP96-00789R000500070001-9

oncedes Libyan Plant Chemical Weapons

By Robert J. McCartney
Washington Post Foreign Service

VIENNA, Jan. 16-West Germany's government said today for the first time that it believes that a controversial factory in Libya will be able to make poison gas, but it continued to insist that it only has indications that West German companies helped build the plant.

In comments to reporters in Bonn, Finance Minister Gerhard Stoltenberg also disclosed that Bonn had obtained information as early as August of last year that raised suspicions about possible West German corporate involvement in building the factory. Previously, West German officials had said they were not aware of such information until October of last

Stoltenberg's statements represented another step back from West Germany's initial, irritated rebuff of U.S. administration allegations that five West German firms helped construct a chemical arms factory at Rabta, Libya.

The minister's remarks were made in part to a news conference, and in part afterward to a correspondent of the Reuter news agency in Bonn. His comments were confirmed in a telephone interview with his chief spokesman, Karl-Heinz von den Driesch, in Bonn.

"We have to assume that at this factory there is a section that will be able to produce poison gas," Stol-

See GERMANY, A18, Col. 1

anges Position on Libyan German companies had helped in

GERMANY, From A1
Quantum A1
Quant

Sponsible for enforcing West Geroman laws against chemical arms cations" that two West German investigators had uncovered "indiirms may have made unauthorized exports to Libva. acknowledged that West German ago when a government spokesman Bonn began to back off five days gas or what evidence Bonn had ob-gained. But he said documents se-gured from IBI Engineering, a grankfurt-based firm linked to Iraqi gusinessman Ihsan Barbouti, "sugcorporate involvement in the Lib-yan plant. No inquiry was ordered at that time, partly because the ininformed the customs investigative exports to Libya.

Stoltenberg said that the Federal Intelligence Service in early August formation was too vague, Stoltenerg said. agency of possible West German

Arday from three days of talks in Washington, where the Rabta plant was discussed.

sluded that the Rabta facility will have the capacity to make poison

the West German government con-

Stoltenberg declined to say when dechnology exports, returned Sat-about official suspicions, he said. that an inquiry might tip off Imhausen-Chemie GmbH of Lahr investigation be opened out of fear vice strongly recommended that no In addition, the intelligence ser-denied any involvement with the by the U.S. administration as havand construction of the plant. ng played a central role in design imhausen, which has strongly tactory, has been identified Gested a possible or suspected in-golvement by German firms in il-gegal activities" in Libya.

The government of Chancellor Helmut Kohl initially responded to usinessman Ihsan Barbouti, "sug-

the U.S. allegations by saying it had "no indications or evidence" Rabta plant could make arms or that any West the factory's construction.

Salzgitter Industriebau GmbH, or SIG, which it said was a unit of Salzas Andreas Boehm, as saying that manager of SIG, whom it identified gitter AG of Salzgitter. It quoted a azine identified as "the U.S. com-pany Harris." The firm, based in Kong. pany Harris." The firm, based in Melbourne Fla specializes in aircraft and satellite electronics, and about fashion" from what the maglater this week. leased today ahead of publication industry, Stern said in a report reworks closely with the U.S. defense alleged poison gas plant "in a roundobtained the main computer for the Stern also said that Imhausen

[The Associated Press quoted

layed launching an inquiry, the mag-West German government has devolvement may explain why the role in planning the alleged chemical arms plant at Rabta. Such incompany had played an important weekly magazine Stern reported azine said. that a West German state-owned the work in question was linked not to Libya but to a plant in Hong Stern identified the company as British weekly newspaper Observer he had no financial interest in it. says is a pharmaceuticals factory versial plant there—which Libya quoted as saying that the controas saying that he had a contract unwas not part of his contract and that facilities at Rabta. But he was til June 1987 to help build industrial Barbouti, 61, was quoted by the

"That building was 60 percent finished when I left the site 18

how to reach Barbouti. She hung up additional information. to comment. She said she worked idence said that he was not available there and that she did not know phone this evening at what when a correspondent asked dentified as Barbouti's London res-

Harris company spokesman as de-ing to build a chemical weapons nying the report.]

Ihsan Barbouti, the Iraqi linked to denial that he was involved in helpplant in Libya. yesterday as making his first public plicated in the affair, was quoted one of the West German firms im-as saying. bouti was quoted by the Observer tory without my knowledge," Barhave built a chemical weapons facmonths ago. I don't think they could A woman who answered the hone this evening at what she

dafi's mec

Peyman Pejman SPECIAL TO THE WASHINGTON TIMES TRIPOLI, Libya — In what was intended to be a media coup for Libya's Col. Muammar Qaddafi, the government invited hundreds of correspondents last week to visit the desert factory that Libya says will make medicine — and the United States says will make poison gas.

But when about 200 journalists called Col. Qaddafi's bluff, the experience was so embarrassing that the government delayed Saturday's visit, held it at dusk, then expelled the reporters soon afterward.

At least 100 journalists, most either American or European, were put on an afternoon flight to Rome. However, at least 30 others managed to stay by avoiding government officials assigned to keep tabs on them. Libyan officials allowed them to stay one more night.

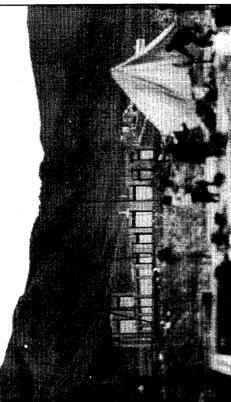

On Thursday, the day after the United States shot down two Libyan planes, 30 foreign reporters who flew in from Rome were sent right back to Italy.

Libyan officials were clearly reluctant to let reporters see the factory, which was built near the village of Rabta, 35 miles southwest of the capital of Tripoli.

But when international clamor grew too loud, the Libyans organized a "special tour" for correspondents Saturday. They refused to disclose the destination, but it was assumed — because of Libyan hints — that the destination would be Rabta.

The outing turned out to be a day trip to some Roman ruins.

When the tour of the plant was finally arranged, it only buttressed

A tent is erected in front of a Libyan factory near the village of Rabta, about 35 miles southwest of the capital of Tripoli. Reporters visited the factory that Libya says will make medicine, and the U.S. says will make poison gas.

the U.S. government's claim that this is no mere pharmaceutical factory.

For one thing, Rabta is a barren, remote place, an unlikely location for a drug factory.

But the clincher was at least a dozen missile batteries, radar and anti-aircraft guns in the area, clearly seen when using binoculars. Several military jeeps, trucks and tents were scattered along the access road.

There was no official visit to the factory building itself, and few people seemed to know exactly where it was

From such evidence as the shape and size of the buildings — and the security measures around them — it can be safely assumed that the factory is a three-story, whitewashed concrete building in the northern part of the village, surrounded by several tents and a man-made earth embankment sheltering a radar.

Fearful of a U.S. military strike, the government has placed hundreds of Libyans and foreigners in the vicinity of the plant, many of them lacking proper clothing for the cold. Three truckloads of workers, one full of Thai men, were leaving Rabta as the correspondents arrived.

A Libyan teacher who would not identify himself said he was "positive" that the plant was only a medical one. Asked why he was so certain, he said, "I know, I read, I [was]

When a correspondent pointed to the building and asked a Libyan doctor if that was the factory, the craptic response was, "Yes. Whatever you wish."

A European diplomat who disort wish to be identified said, "It's wery obvious what they are doing there. Why would you want to build a pharmaceutical plant in such a rephote place surrounded by missiles? Although the Libyan government has denied reports that the fadory seriously, said Dr. Idriss Ibrahim.

Although the Libyan government has denied reports that the factory is surrounded by military facilities. Libyan pharmaceutical experts working at the plant made reatment to deny the existence of missiles around the factory.

"In 1986, the Americans bombed purely civilian targets and killed a lot of people. There is no reasong by we should not do our best to protect this plant. That's why the missiles are here."

He said the missiles were installed after remarks by Reagagadmistration officials hinted than the than the missiles were installed after remarks by Reagagadmistration officials hinted than the ministration officials hinted the the facility may be bombed. "Unter the Reagan threat is gone, the missiles will remain," Dr. Ibrahim said. According to Western diplomatic sources, Col. Qaddafi summone the West German ambassador last Deek and asked his government's according to how to ease the tension gene peter on how to ease the tension gene peter ambassador suggested that Libia let an international committee inspect the plant.

In a statement to reporters last week, Col. Qaddafi said Libya would accept an international inspection of his factory if the committee included a Libyan representative and would later inspect all suspected poison gas factories in Israel, Europe and the United States.